SUMMARY

Computer Science Engineering student. I focus on software and web development. I build complete web applications using Express.js, EJS, MongoDB, Spline, and Figma, with strong proficiency in Python. I design intuitive, user-friendly web interfaces and implement secure authentication systems. I integrate external APIs and AI services to extend application functionality and deliver enhanced user experiences. I enjoy building tools that solve real-world problems, learn new technologies quickly, and actively participate in hackathons to collaborate and grow.
